

This Co-Creative Mandala, from a photograph of moon flower (symbolizes mystery), is associated with the sacral, solar plexus, heart, throat, third eye, and crown chakras. The Enchantment mandala reminds you that wonder, awe, and joy are blossoming in your life. Everything in nature, and in the universe, is acting in your favor. Enchantment is whispering to you. You don't need spells or magic wands to experience Enchantment, it's all around you if you only invest the time to notice the gentle rustle of leaves in the wind, the vibrant colors of a blooming flower, or the soothing sound of running water. The gift of Enchantment brings us back to the best version of our self and invites a sense of ease, self-care, self-compassion, well-being and joy and brings the beauty of your spirit into this world. When you find Enchantment, it grows and frees you.

